The Heads of Corruption and the Corruption of Heads

By Sheikh,

Ahmed Abu Abdul-Elah Al-Jigli Al-Jazaeri

In the Name of Allah, the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful.

Regardless of their ideologies and doctrines, the elections in all countries in the world, are opportunities to compete among candidates to gain votes and reach presidency, through their economic, social, and service sectors programs; that they have promised to provide in the case of winning, except for Algeria!. It seems that Algeria is still far from the true meaning of fair competition which is about the programs and the candidates themselves. The presidential election here is still a chance for political liquidation, revealing black files, and excluding every competitor who's not nominated by the military.

The military is clinging to the reins of power in Algeria, and this clarifies all afflictions and wrong-doings, and also explains why Algeria is settling behind the convoy of civilization, and in the tail of the technological progress list... globally, behind Mali, and Ethiopia. Plus, standing just before the last in the Arabian region list; exactly before Libya, which is the victim of Gaddafi... their "product" who graduated from their camps.

This logic is what drives Algerians to choose the less devilish candidate, instead of choosing the best and the more efficient one, which is the same logic that reduce all people in one party, the thieves party!, and that kill any freeman with good intention toward this country and its people.

The declaration of decision-makers, the "Clean Hands campaign", with the beginning of the presidential election arguments, and which was assigned to the Gen. Ripper Tartak, is a green light in front of the intelligence even with their bad repetition!; which will feel free to continue practicing their dirty crimes. Crimes like sacrificing some heads of corruption to gain sympathy from the victims of their systematic theft before the official announcement of the military candidate who is visible and hidden at the same time. We wonder! Where was the (Hero) during all these past years? Is it believable that billions were smuggled without the knowledge of the intelligence service? Is it believable that this could happen in any country? Is it believable that the offices and institutions with their hot files were burned, including the courts, every time, in the same way? By neutralizing the camera... in the weekend holidays... damaging corruption files... closing the files... can't you see that all these indicate that the criminal is one direction? .... What's the indication when seeing all big thieves running out of the country easily through airports? Can't you see that there is facilities and protection from above?

And if this criminal deserves to be described as a clean hand and a righteous man, then why he did not stop a thief like the Oil Minister Chakib Khalil? Or someone who is tampering with the country economic such as Al-khalifah?

And if this criminal deserves to be described as a man of power and honesty, then why didn't he discover the graves of thousands of kidnapped men? From the finest young Algerian! Since their parents, mothers, children, and wives, are suffering from loss and grief after hiding their graves!

Highlighting these files at the beginning of the electoral campaign in the scenes, is a way to regain something from the lost confidence of those poor people who are suffering under the rule of thieves... from the country's president to the mayor!, because Chakib Khalil is not the only thief among the ministers! And Sonatrak is not the only corrupted company in the country. The real question is what's the benefit of raising this file after the escape of the offender and the burning of the court with the hot files? Wasn't it better for those (....) officers to resign? Could they escape from questioning, disarming, and taking off all titles and medals if they were in a country that respects its people and its laws?

Military men tampered and corrupted in the country and harmed its people, and the intelligence service with its bad repetition is the main accused of corruption; it was the one behind all the policies of repression and corruption, and it is the time now for intelligence heads, the criminals, Tawfik and Tartak first, to be judged for their crimes, not in the courts where the files could damage, but in the Capital streets!, on live!, Like Gaddafi, by the hands of the young men of jihad, martyrdom, revolution, and Sacrifice, who are despaired of these traitors rulers, and who want to stop the humiliation and indignity, and to write with red blood (We will not kneel except for Allah), and if God well the day that we are dreaming of is coming by this generation who will free themselves from fear and who have already decided to regain the rights of being pride and having dignity "And Allah is predominant over His affair, but most of the people do not know."; (Quran meaning translation), and praise be to Allah, the Lord of the Worlds.
